

AGS helped this university
to show its true colors.

Using color and design to increase awareness.

Northeastern Illinois University El Centro is a satellite campus designed to provide educational, career and cultural opportunities to a new area in Chicago. In addition to being functional, the building was designed to create awareness of NEIU and this new campus.

The striking design was complemented by the “fins” on the building that present the school’s colors: blue on one side and gold on the other. Our solution not only added a striking architectural element, it provided an incredibly efficient sun-shading barrier for the students at this campus.
